Introduction

When universities and colleges are depicted in fictional forms of media, the focus is often a short time in the life of a student, often between the classroom and dorm room. Sometimes it's a professor's life with minor dabbles in their classroom. What is never depicted is the staff that actually runs the day to day functions of the university, ensures quality out of the classroom experiences, holistic growth of students & deals with emergencies. The student affairs professional.

What is student affairs?

To paraphrase a major professional organization for student affairs professionals the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA). Learning mostly happens outside of the classroom. Opportunities for teaching and development can happen everywhere on campus, from an academic advisor helping a student choose a major to a fraternity and sorority life coordinator helping a chapter to operate more effectively. The work done by student affairs professionals helps students begin a lifetime journey of growth and self-exploration. Student affairs professionals seize these moments and promote positive interactions. While furthering understanding for diversity and belief in the worth of individuals.

St. Sebastian University will showcase this often un-spotlighted profession, its impacts, its idiosyncrasies, quirks, problems its faces through the perspectives and personal lives of five students affairs professionals of varying ages & experiences that belong to various facets of the queer community and work in departments like Cultural/Identity Offices, Fraternity & Sorority, Housing, Orientation and Student Conduct. As they gather after a week of work and unwind at a local gay bar. There will also be a minor focus of the uniqueness of Jesuit Catholic universities that will also be showcased.

This television series is a love letter and advocacy of student affairs and the queer community from a bisexual practitioner of student affairs whose life was changed by student involvement as his way of giving back. It is also a great opportunity for student affairs professionals to laugh at the sillier things that happen in the field and help explain what they do for a living to their confused family and wider public. Hopefully this also results in higher wages and benefits for student affairs practitioners and makes higher education a human right for all and not just some.

Main Characters

Tina Worthy

Age: 41

Race/Ethnicity: Black

Sexual & Gender: Asexual Biromantic Cis-Female

Fashion: Finance Bro Vests & Jackets

Film & Television: Art House

Music: Rap Girls

Hometown: Buffalo, New York

The arrogant, broody but very effective new Director of Housing at St. Sebastian. A native of Buffalo who has returned after almost twenty years since graduating from St. Sebastian. In undergrad she was Vice President of SGA, an RA & sister of Lambda Lambda Sorority who majored in Literature.

A lifelong comic book fan, she moved to New York City after graduation to write for the upstart Kooky Comics. In the short three years of Kooky's existence, she mostly did quality control & created the super-heroine Miss Ekanite, who had a six issue run before Kooky shuttered. Feeling disillusioned with the comics industry, she obtained her Master's in Higher Education Student Affairs at the University of Vermont along with her focus in housing. Her first role was as the Coordinator of Residential Assignments at the University of Wyoming. After four years in that role, she was a Area Coordinator Indiana State University for six years. Before returning to St. Sebastian, she was the Assistant Director of Residential Life at Colby College.

Her return to Buffalo was motivated when her brother Maurice's wife Veronica ran off to Trinidad with their pastor leaving him to raise their two teen sons, Dior & Roddy, by himself. Which coincided with the Director role being open at St. Sebastian. She previously never thought she would return to Buffalo after she was dumped by her boyfriend/SGA President, LeShon Fronczak her last semester & his subsequent rise to Mayor of Buffalo.

Biggest pet peeve is people not having taste, for example does not believe comics should be adapted for the screen and disdains fandom culture. Achilles heel is being overconfident something is ready for prime time. Biggest strength is her ability to rebound after failure.

Freddie Wopsock

Age: 26

Race/Ethnicity: Native American: Ute Indian Tribe of the Uintah and Ouray Reservation

Gender & Sexuality: Gay CisMale
Fashion: Polos & Khakis
Film & Television: Adult Animation
Music: Hyper Pop
Hometown: Vernal, Utah

The vain but hilarious Coordinator of St. Sebastian's Pride Center. He is the most worried about maintaining his core strength because his biggest desire in life would be to lead a male troupe of Utah Jazz Dancers. He is the first to volunteer to MC events and do his tight five.

He attended undergraduate at Utah State University where he joined Rho Rho Fraternity & was a cheerleader when not dashing around campus for various queer causes and being a marketing major. He went to the University of Arkansas for his Higher Education & Student Affairs Master's. St. Sebastian is his first professional role and he has been in it for three years.

Biggest pet peeve is people presuming he is a top. Achilles heel is oversharing in general to students and uninterested colleagues. Biggest strength is relieving tension in stressful situations.

Harold Park

Age: 32
Race/Ethnicity: Korean American
Gender & Sexuality: Bisexual Nonbinary (They/Them)
Fashion: Business Casual
Film & Television: Comedy
Music: Punk Rock
Hometown: Tacoma, Washington

The high strung & neurotic Director of Student of Conduct at St. Sebastian. They are always waiting for the other shoe to drop. Part of throuple and beyond patient with his partners.

Attended undergrad at the University of Puget Sound and was an aimless Geography major until they had to be a witness in a student conduct case. Subsequently attended Clemson University for their Higher Education Student Affairs Master's. Worked for two year at Montana State University's Student Conduct office before joining the office at St. Sebastian and being promoted to director three years ago for nine total years in the field.

Biggest pet peeve is going with the flow instead of a plan. Achilles heel is being under-accommodating in general. Biggest strength is being organized and prepared.

Wesley Lindskog

Age: 28
Race/Ethnicity: White
Gender & Sexuality: Gay Trans-Male
Fashion: Soft, Cozy & Casual
Film & Television: Reality TV
Music: Country
Hometown: Bismarck, North Dakota

The overly trusting and people pleasing Assistant Director of Orientation at St. Sebastian. Lives to sing in a variety of karaoke and work spaces, competently if not excellently. Encyclopedic knowledge of Catholic Saint Feast Days.

Attended undergrad & grad school at Loyola (Chicago) University studying Theatre & then Higher Education & Student Affairs. Was a natural campus tour guide, orientation leader and recruitment chair for Beta Beta Fraternity. Has been at St. Sebastian for five years and was recently promoted.

Biggest pet peeve is people not having school spirit. Achilles heel is delaying the obvious and inevitable. Biggest strength is his self-esteem.

Ximena Zapata

Age: 23
Race/Ethnicity: Colombian-American
Gender & Sexuality: Lesbian Cis-Female
Fashion: Sunshine & Lollipops
Film & Television: Whatever's Trending
Music: Something to workout to
Hometown: Cali, Columbia/Tampa, Florida

The collected but remote Coordinator for Fraternity Sorority Life at St. Sebastian. She is barely staying afloat as a one woman office. So which Ximena you'll see any day is a surprise.

Attended undergrad at the University of Florida where she kept her chapter of Epsilon Epsilon Sorority afloat while studying Electrical Engineering. Obtained her Master's in Higher Education & Student Affairs from Arizona State University. St. Sebastian is her first professional role and has been there for six months.

Biggest pet peeve is people not doing the required reading. Achilles heel is overextending themselves frequently. Biggest strength is nipping things in the bud before they happen.

Structure

A half hour sitcom with a linear narrative with only some episodes having serialized elements in later seasons. Each season is a semester at St. Sebastian University. There are ten seasons of ten episodes each for one hundred total episodes that is complimented by a finale tv movie. Most episodes have one of the lead characters recount a situation in either their work or personal life to the other lead characters through flashbacks while the lead characters are at one of four local gay bars in Buffalo. Most often while the leads are at the Frut Loop on Friday nights. A small number of episodes entirely take place in one of the four bars. The series of flashbacks can take place practically anywhere with the focus of the episode like a conference in San Diego for example. Flashbacks can be interrupted and or paused by the questions and statements of the other leads. Some flashbacks are completely oral if it plays out better for comedy or plot.

Tone

The overall picture is rosy but thorns will be shown. The show celebrates student affairs professionals but highlights various problems and unfairness that they can face. Jubilation is chased by soberness most often by not overwhelmed by it. Good often wins out but not without personal or professional growth first.

Themes

Student Affairs is more adept than Academic Affairs when it comes to problem solving.

Involvement is just as important to an education as most learning comes outside of the classroom. Students learn more from our leads than their professors.

Student Affairs is as essential to society and a more ethical career field than most but not completely above systemic problems.

Student Affairs is a field where queerness can be an advantage but not completely understood like in all others.

Many problems students face are because of their parent's attitudes and shortcomings in failing to raise them as part of multicultural intersectional society. I.E. Coming into a university with eighteen years of baggage.

An education is about becoming an informed and prepared citizen in a democracy and not job training. A job training point of view will ultimately make students and staff miserable in their lives before and after graduation.

Background

Silly Skunks: An informal gathering of queer student affairs staff at St. Sebastian most Friday nights at the Frut Loop since the early 2010s. The current group was initiated when Wesley met Harold, after many previous had left the institution to more senior positions, at the Frut Loop one night when Wesley was first starting out at St. Sebastian, later absorbed Freddie then Ximena before Tina encountered the group. Harold came up with the moniker when a group chat was formed.

Locations

St. Sebastian University

A Catholic Jesuit university founded in 1880 in Buffalo, New York. With an average enrollment of 6,000 students. Academically it is known for its African American Studies, Classical Studies, Interior Design & Supply Chain Management programs. It has a similar national profile to Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Originally a school for the sons of Polish immigrants of the Our Lady of Lake Erie parish started by Rev. Wincenty Dziuba with help from parish families. An avid archer, he named the college after Saint Sebastian, the patron saint of archers and subject of many classical paintings. In 1919 St. Sebastian settled in its current location with the completion of both Ambroziak Hall & the Chapel of St. Sebastian. In 1953 it gained university status.

Its colors are French Gray & Crimson. Athletics teams are known as the St. Sebastian Skunks. The unusual moniker was chosen by the student body in jest in 1919 after an early football game was ended by skunk or mercy rule. The mascot is Shane Skunk, an anthropomorphic skunk represented by a student in costume; there has never been a live skunk at games.

The Skunks compete in NCAA Division One, in the Zenith Conference except for Hockey where the Skunks compete in the Eastern Hockey Conference. Other teams include, Volleyball, Cross Country, Golf, Tennis, Basketball, Track & Field, Baseball & Softball. With most success coming in Women's golf including 10 straight conference championships starting in 1993. Starting a football team has been an annual debate topic that won't be resolved soon.

Campus Buildings

Borkowski Hall

A upperclassmen residence hall built in the 1990s that is also home to the university housing offices.

Cygan Multicultural Center

A multicultural student center built in the early 2000s home to the Pride Center.

Episode Eight: Rainbow Graduation

Freddie talks about making arrangements for Rainbow Graduation and how much the graduating seniors taught him at The Toucan

Episode Nine: Bachelor Party

Wesley talks about the choice to have a joint bachelor party with Giles since they are both Beta Betas and wanted to meet each other's brothers and how worlds collided that weekend in Nantucket at the Frut Loop.

Episode Ten: Moving To Indy

Ximena talks about her on-site interviews and subsequent acceptance of a role at her sorority's (Epsilon Epsilon) headquarters in Indianapolis and how it was time for a new challenge after five years at the Frut Loop.

The Movie

A very emotional week for all the Silly Skunks of Saint Sebastian. Wednesday, Pope Doug The 1st as part of his visit back to his hometown of Buffalo, is touring St. Sebastian with Harold as one of the tour guides before having lunch with all the staff. All before holding a mass at the Buffalo Bills stadium that Sunday. Thursday is the work farewell party for Ximena. Friday, it's Dior's graduation party and reveal of where he is going to college at, which has Tina on edge. Saturday is Wesley and Giles wedding at the historic Shea's Buffalo Theater and they are busy with baby Dylan. Freddie is having a rare second date at the big mass on Sunday. Will everyone make it through without an excessive amount of being an emotional wreck?
